Cold Facts About the Sebastopol Section

Home seekers and prospective land buyers should not decide to buy anywhere until they have thoroughly familiarized themselves with the Sebastopol section and the superior advantages that prevail here. You must not lose sight of the fact that money invested in either improved or unimproved land here increases much more rapidly than if placed in a bank. For instance, a young orchard that you might buy here today will be worth from 1 hundred to 3 hundred dollars per acre more five or six years hence than it is now. Again, the man who plants out trees today on $150-an-acre land will have property worth $500 per acre five years hence. This is the way property has been advancing here in the past and it will continue to do so in the future.

Let us show you the Robinson tract, near Sebastopol, the finest piece of unimproved property in sub-divisions in Sonoma county. A fine Gravenstein apple orchard is also on the place. The price is right and the terms are easy.
